Driver for IEEE 802.11ax Wifi Router – ASUS AX2200. ASUS AX2200 supports IEEE 802.11ax standard (Wifi 5) and is based on the latest AX201U chipset. AX2200 comprises a Dual Core Processor, Dual channel full rate MIMO (256 bits), and the AX2200 provides backward compatibility with other IEEE 802.11ax Wi-Fi devices. With the AX2200, ASUS supports IEEE 802.11ax on the 5GHz band, and IEEE 802.11ay and IEEE 802.11ax on the 2.4GHz band. AX2200 provides backward compatibility with IEEE 802.11n/ac/ax/ax v5.0/ax. ASUS AX2200 supports a wide range of security modes, including Secure Network with AES 256-bit hardware encryption, WPA/WPA2 pre-shared key, WPA/WPA2 personal passphrase with AES256-bit. ASUS AX2200 is compatible with both 802.11ac and 802.11ax legacy and Mesh multi-path transmission technologies. Supported legacy Wi-Fi devices can be set to automatically switch to AX2200 once IEEE 802.11ax or 802.11ay is detected and IEEE 802.11ac or 802.11ax is available. AX2200 is also backwards compatible with AX201U devices that support IEEE 802.11ax. The AX201U is aimed to be used by 802.11ax devices. AX2200 also supports RADIUS authentication and is capable of working with the RADIUS server in IEEE 802.11ax. AX2200 supports IEEE 802.11ax beamforming (multiple antenna TX and RX), even with 802.11ax MIMO to provide optimal real-time and high data rate transmission. AX2200 supports MU-MIMO with simultaneous antennas at AP and STAs, which makes AX2200 the most suitable Wi-Fi router for upcoming MU-MIMO-enabled Wi-Fi standards, such as IEEE 802.11ax and IEEE 802.11ax AirVantage. With a single-core processor (without AES or CCX processors), AX2200 is ideal for usage in Wi-Fi mesh networks that require more processing power than dual-core AX220. About ASUS ASUS, the leading innovator in the IT industry, is committed to building the finest, most innovative, easy-to-use computing products and services.
